Well, Nobuaki Notohara, a Japanese writer, a man who lived in Arab countries for some 40 years, speaking fluent Arabic, has written a book critical of a number grave shortcomings in Arab society.

I like Mr. Nobuaki

Notohara's approach to the Arab society. He clearly

Online Library Nobuaki Notohara

points out the main problem in Arab countries. They have no secular democracy background. All of them ruled by a version of dictatorship.

IN THE MIDST OF WAR Louai Al Roumani was head of finance and planning at one of the largest banks in Syria, when the war broke out in 2011. In Lessons from a Warzone, Al Roumani shares his very personal account of coping with the day-to-day realities of leading an organization in dangerous and hostile conditions. His story shows how inspiration can come from the unlikeliest of places - from the timeless wisdom of merchants in ancient souks to the changing patterns of military checkpoints. During that time, not only did the bank remain robust when others faltered - it thrived and became the undisputed leading bank as people's trust in its capability to safeguard their life-long savings strengthened. In this book, Al Roumani distils the knowledge and skills he and his colleagues developed while steering the bank through four impossible

Online Library Nobuaki Notohara

years into ten lessons applicable to any leader facing a crisis today. His valuable, and often counterintuitive, advice - ranging from resisting over-planning to hacking your own IT department to cutting costs (but not morale) - will help anyone understand how to be resilient even in the most challenging of times.

The book provides in-depth analysis of Arab liberalism,

which, although lacking public appeal and a compelling political underpinning, still sustained viability over time and remained a constant part of the Arab landscape. The study focuses on the second half of the twentieth century and the early twenty-first century, a period that witnessed continuity as well as change in liberal thinking. Post-1967 liberals, as their predecessors, confronted old

dilemmas, socio-economic upheavals, political instability and cultural disorientation, but also demonstrated ideological rejuvenation and provided liberal thought with new emphases and visions. Arab liberals' ongoing debates over freedom of religion, secularism, individualism, democracy and human rights were aimed at formulating of a comprehensive liberal project seeking to enact an Arab Enlightenment.

"Identifying similarities and differences between cultures results in the creation of certain images and representations. This thesis explores the role of translation in creating cultural images within the context of a system of representation based the promotion of certain stereotypes across cultures. Incorporating a translation and commentary, the thesis examines the strategies

adopted in handling issues of culture and cultural references. The data include the translation into English of a passage from the book Arabs from a Japanese Perspective, written in Arabic by the Japanese

Online Library Nobuaki Notohara

writer Nobuaki Notohara (2004) as a source of cultural examples and references. The commentary provides an analysis of examples that indicate the role of translational choices in cultural mediation and representation. It is concluded that despite of translation's important role in bridging cultures and overcoming differences, images of the Arab culture remain prisoner of the Translation is intercultural communication in its purest form. Its power in forming and/or deforming cultural identities has only recently been acknowledged, given the attention it deserves. The chapters in this unique volume assess translation from Arabic into other languages from different perspectives: the politics, economics, ethics, and poetics of translating from Arabic; a language often neglected in western mainstream translation studies.
